

EDITORIAL

The magazine Guidance and Society N°12, as informed in previous editions, will be published at first in the Portal Scielo site due to costs reasons and publishing times.

This year two important academic happenings took place; on one hand the visit of the Professor Christophe Dejours from France. He will give a Seminar in our University jointly with the Work Ministry of the Province of Buenos Aires and the CONICET called: Suffering and pleasure at work in light of Psychopathology and Labor Psychology, since October 29 to 31.

The mentioned professor is a leading researcher from the Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique (CNRS) on subjects related to Mental Health and Work and has published several papers that have been translated into different languages.

On the other hand, we have begun the steps to make the II Latin American Guidance Congress– CIO 2013 -, under the motto: “Educational and Occupational Guidance as a strategy of inclusion and equality along life”, that will be held since December 4 to 6 in the Psychology School, UNLP.

In this volume we have included the following Central Works: A Framework for Demonstrating the Value of Human Services by Bryan Hiebert and Verbal Comprehension of university students by Telma Piacente.

In the Research Advances section, we'll find: Criteria of election of postgraduate courses in graduated students of technological/ humanistic/ artistic professions; subjective and contextual involvements to arrive at the conclusion of them by Cecilia Martha Kligman and In search of the ox ... Gateways to understanding human individuation through Guidance, by Mónica Valencia Bolaños.

Then there is a synthesis of the symposium: University inclusion: utopia versus reality, included in the 3rd International Congress of Investigation, Faculty of Psychology, UNLP – Knowledge and current scenarios.

At last we will find the section of scientific events.

MIRTA GAVILÁN